EGENDS: Oz.

Alanis Morissette King's College London

"THIS is my favourite gig I've ever done in London." says Alanis Morissette just two songs into a top secret show in the capital. Performing in front of an invited audience for Virgin Radio the ballsy Canadian, left, has punters eating out of her hand. Thrashing around with a sparkly guitar, Morissette, 35, bashes through her big hitters. Every girlfriend in the building shrieks the boyfriend-bashing You Ought To Know into their nearest and dearest's ears. Light on new material though, but no one appeared to mind. CARL STROUD

THIS Welsh fivesome have

THIS Welsh fivesome have become one of the UK's best post-hardcore bands and it's easy to see why. "I wanna see you jump around like crazy mother," screamed frontman Matt Davies. The pumped-up crowd obliged with sweat-soaked grins on their faces. A confident and sharply executed performance, with the audience hanging on his every word.

Free parking plea

A BUSINESS group yesterday called for a suspension of parking charges in towns throughout December and January to boost consumer spending in shops.
The move would give shoppers an incentive to spend at town centre stores rather than retail parks and supermarkets where parking is free, said the Forum of Private Business (FPB).
Spokesman Rex Garratt said: "Exorbitantly high

BLACK WIDOW: Chrissie

Killer diaries deal for Chris

■ by LAURA NEIL

■ by LAURA NEIL

ACTRESS Tracy-Ann Oberman has been offered a mega-deal to pen Chrissie

Watts' prison diaries.

The Black Widow killer, played by Tracy-Ann, is facing life behind bars for the murder of her husband Den Watts.

But EastEnders fans may not have seen the last of her, because the book project could even inspire a spin-off telly show starring Tracy-Ann, 36, about Chrissie's life inside.

An Albert Square insider said last night: "It could be a best-seller as far as interest from our fans is concerned.

"But there are many contractual difficulties to sort out."

E PLONKERS W

ROOZY Brits are ping record amounts of wine - but we still can't tell good from bad.

Millions have no idea how to pour, taste or choose their plonk, says a new study.

Most pick a bottle based on its price, shape or whether it has a cork or screwtop. But few actually choose their tipple based on the quality, said researchers. Connoisseurs like Prince Charles, 57, (right) may know what makes a good glass of wine rather than plonk.

But six out of 10 Brits buy wine purely on the basis of price and often make a choice because of a special offer, according to the study by Chilean wine brand Cono Sur.
One in three believe they are not clever enough to make a choice based on quality.
Some said they felt "out of their depth", nervous or intimidated when examining the racks of bottles in stores. In London 61% make their choice according to which country the wine comes from, as do 57% of Scots.

Choice

But in the North only 30% care where it comes from and just 35% of Welsh think it matters.

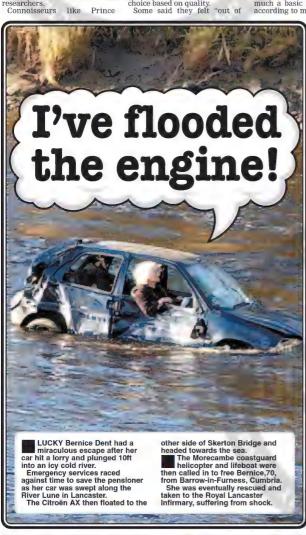

Sometimes the choice is pretty much a basic red or white one according to more than half the buyers in the East Midlands and buyers in the East Midianus and North West.

Other factors include what the label looks like and what kind of top it has, even though most experts point out that the look won't affect what's in the bottle.
Cono Sur's tips include avoiding the very cheapest wines but also the most expensive which are often not worth the money. They advise buying wines with a rich colour which are not too watery-looking.

Cheat claim hurts

I WENT down to Cornwall with a few mates a couple of weeks ago for a stag weekend and I promise I was faithful to my girlfriend. But she is convinced that I shagged some slapper because that's what all the other blokes who were with me did. A couple of them spent their time in their hotel bedrooms with girls they had picked up in a club on the first night and the rest of the guys bedded girls they me the next day. But I played no part in it and spent my time in the amusement arcade.

Bragging

When we got back home a couple of the blokes were bragging about what they were up to and my girlfriend got to hear about it.

Now I'm being accused of something I didn't do, but she just doesn't believe me.

I used to see him three nights a week – and so did she.
We'd both told each other about our "new blokes" and thought they'd be sure to get on, since they sounded so alike. How were we to know it was the same bloke?
One night, we arranged for our new "boytriends" to meet and for us all to go out treether.

The rat just sat there smirking. By the time we'd worked out that he'd been cheating us both, he'd vanished.

Now we want revenge. Got any suggestions?

JANE SAYS: Plenty, but is it worth it? Frankly, I think you should both be grateful that you've escaped from this rat. You both went out with him for only a short time, so there were no commitments on either side and it won't take you too long to mat over it.

and it won't take you too long to get over it.
Your pride has been dented by his double-crossing, but you've got your pal to share this experience with - and he's got no one.
Or has he? For all you know there may be one, two, three or four other girls he's lying to.
Don't waste your time looking for revenge, although telling everyone you know what happened might be a good warning to others.

It's and a mess and it don't know what to do.

Two years ago I decided that I didn't want to be with my ex any more, so I ended it and almost immediately inet my current bloke. He seemed perfect and was so different from my ex. He moved into my flat within a month of us meeting.

But he's turned into boring, self-opinionated bully and I hate him. He's dreadful at sex, never says anything nice to me and is putting pressure on me to get married.

I LOVE my girlfriend to bits and she's perfect in every way but I'd love her to have bigger boobs.

I've never said anything to her about it so she's got no idea I'd like her to have more up top.

So I thought I'd give her a huge surprise at Christmas by giving her a boob job as her present. I know it's a bit extravagant, but I can afford it. What I want to know is should I give her my present privately or at Christmas dinner with her family?

JANE SAYS: I don't think you should give her this present at all. You have no idea whether your girl-friend wants a boob job, and it's not something that you can take back to the shop because it's the wrong colour!

Before you splash out and book her in for implants you have got to ask her if it's what she wants.

wants.
I suggest you phone the Breast implant Information Society (0.7041 471 225 for information before you get your cheque book out. She might be horvified and then you'll have wasted your money and you won't have a back-up gift.

Day four

CONTINUES TOMORROW

The gazer who knows your future

(Mar 21-Apr 20)

You may still be puzzled by a close relationship. But don't worry – by the end of the year you will be looking for affection from an unlikely source.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY:

(Apr 21-May 21)

(June 23-July 23)

Aries

EVEN though you received a personal pledge, there is no guarantee that you will get what was promised or owed. Judging by what has just happened, all bets are off. Chances are, what is suggested now is the least expensive option – and you can certainly make do with it. To see why you have a much better shot at succeeding, call...

To receive daily texts 0905 072 0099 (01) send DSARI to 63333

YOU seem to be fretting too much, even if your recent outburst didn't win you many friends. You needn't worry. A superb aspect between Venus and Mars in Taurus should open doors to people or places that enchant you. Here, you are not so vulnerable. To see why the hardest thing is leaving, call...

0905 072 0099 (02)

Gemini (May 22-June 22)

THE recent full moon indicates some kind of break from the past. Now you must gather your strength and dust yourself down as you're far from helpless. In fact, an offer that materialises between now and Friday is most timely – but it's best to keep quiet. To see why you should get the stamp of approval, call...

0905 072 0099 (03)

(July 24-Aug 23)

Cancer

Taurus

SOME hearts may have fluttered recently.
And yet, certain people are inclined to frustrate you. Like most love stories, they don't always end happily. Nevertheless, because of a marvellous link between Venus and Mars, happiness will come from partners and friends. To find out how a kindred spirit can help you out, call...

To receive daily texts send DSCAN to 63333

0905 072 0099 (04)

Leo

YOU may have accepted a challenge without realising that others will never let you live it down if you fail. From the family's point of view, they think you're mad. However, you should get a tiny break today. This will drive you on – but you mustr't waste your energy. To see why you need to review your domestic situation – and quick, call...

To receive daily texts send DSLEO to 63333

0905 072 0099 (05)

Virgo

(Aug 24-Sep 23)

YOU may not be so carefree after recent events. Other people seem conspicuous by their absence and making concrete plans is proving impossible. However, as Venus is brilliantly aspected by Mars, you are sure to be stirred into action or moved today. To see why you could go all the way, call...

To receive daily texts send DSVIR to 63333 0905 072 0099 (06)

(Bet 24-Nov 22)

Libra (Sep 24-Oct 23)

YOU shouldn't pass up an offer. Even when you add up the cost or the expense of moving, you can't lose. It's a win-win situation. The trouble is, you may need to keep your money for other reasons. The family or others will pay their way – so that's OK. To see why you should look after what you've got, call...

To receive daily texts send DSLIB to 63333

0905 072 0099 (07)

Scorpio

A PARTNERSHIP may require a major overhaul. This might have something to do with the fact that you feel humiliated. Where do you get that crazy idea from? In fact, you should find that you are given more attention today – and that one relationship could carry on as before and flourish. To see why all your prayers will be answered, call...

To receive daily texts send DSSCO to 63333

0905 072 0099 (08)

Sagittarius (lw 23-le: 21)

LIFE has been hard, and it's possible that you never understood what was being asked of you. However, other people will respond to your needs today. Whether this will turn into a money-making opportunity doesn't matter. The main thing is that you are free to take a journey. To see why there's no reason to be sceptical, call...

0905 072 0099 (09)

Capricorn (le: 22-Ju 21)

RECENT developments have left you feeling emotionally fragile. Now, however, because Venus in Capricorn links up with Mars, romantic events should do you good. But beware – one relationship carries an obligation with it, as you're about to discover. To see why you are not going to get hurt, call...

To receive daily texts send DSCAP to 63333

0905 072 0099 (10)

Aquarius (Jan 21-Feb 19)

THIS may not be a time of domestic bliss. However, you should have reason to marace the family today. Career-wise, you might be thinking of going freelance. But somebody will help make you a success, even if it comes from inside your house. To see why you have already made it without realising it, call...

0905 072 0099 (11)

Pisces

(Feb 28-Mar 20)

YOU have probably accepted that your help is needed, and that certain people don't want to see you. In fact, you might as well wait until the end of the week before deciding if others can do without you. In the meantime, someone else is on the horizon and this encounter should provide some welcome relief. To see why nothing is standing in your way, call...

WALKING TALL: Madge and Charlotte Church are caught in the net

ack

■ by CLARE TAYLOR THE hottest celebs are getting caught up in a saucy new trend – fishnets. And if you fancy following in their footsteps, it's an easy way to add a touch of glam.

From chic bars and clubs to the red carpet, this

An easy way to add a touch of glam. From chic bars and clubs to the red carpet, the foxy look has really made waves.

Madonna's video for Hung Up, her latest single, pays the ultimate homage to the hottest hosiery around. Layered under a daring purple leotard, the singer, 47, gives the trend an 80s dance studio twist. Its massive celeb following means the fishnet has finally shed its fetish image and is hot to trot on any high street.

Shirley Feeney buyer for ultimate online hosiery boutique tightsplease.co.uk – isn't surprised they're back in favour.

She says: "Fishnets have gone from being the domain of sexy 50s pin-up girls and the forefront of the punk-rock revolution to becoming the staple legwear of the rich and famous."

This time around, there's much more fun and glamour to be had from the look. And it's not all about black.

Hooked

Brands such as Jonathan Aston, Aristoc and Dior offer amazing style variations. There are oversized nets and a massive selection of colours to match any look.
Catching on to a celebrity trend has never been so cheap, either – at between £5 and £15. (See www.tightsplease. co.uk for the biggest and best selection around.)
Fishnets are also the best way to get the hot burlesque look favoured by the likes of the Pussycat Dolls and Christina Aguilera, 24.
And with city shorts set to remain a big hit well into 2006 they are a great way to show off fishnet-clad pins, even if it means feeling a little chilly this time of year!
The look is hot off the catwalk, where designers took nspiration from super-chic retro starlets.
And fishnets proved the perfect accessory to vamp up the ultra-feminine collections.

LITTLE BRITAIN: BBC1, 9pm

LITTLE BRITAIN is back tonight. And this time there's none of that faffing around on BBC Three. Although the digital channel will be showing this third series (running a week behind) the show is such a hit now that the first airing of each episode has obviously got to be on terrestrial. So tune in to BBC1 at 9pm to catch up with the likes of Dafydd, Vicky Pollard, and the amply proportioned Bubbles De Vere. Bubbles actually bumps into her Vicky Pollard, and the Service, Bubbles actually bumps into her ex in this first show, looking remarkably like Rob Brydon, and finds his new woman bears a passing resemblance to David Walliams. Just a passing one, mind.

THERE'S more comedy afterwards with the return of THE WORST WEEK OF MY LIFE (BECT, 9.30pm). In the first series, Howard and Mel (Ben Miller and Sarah Alexander) discovered every conceivable object in their path as they prepared to tie the knot, Sarah's disapproving dad being the biggest of them. This time they're actually married (and Sarah is massively pregnant), but they still seem hideously jinxed as they prepare to move into their new home.

If you're not in the mood for

IF you're not in the mood for comedy, you could do a lot worse than turn to Channel 4 for this year's UK MUSIC HALL OF FAME (9pm), hosted by Dermot O'Leary. Acts to be inducted this year include The Kinks, Pink Floyd, Jimi Hendrix, The Who, Aretha Franklin and possibly even some people who aren't either dead or entitled to a free buss pass.

OH, AND don't forget, they're clearing the way for the charity appeal marathon, Children In Need, tomorrow. So there's a double dose of EASTENDERS topicht, at 7.30pm and 8.30pm tonight, at 7.30pm and 8.30pm (BBC1).

have an abortion.

IT never rains much down CORONATION STREET (ITV1) – which is odd, considering the weather in the rest of Manchester. But it was bucketing down in last night's episode. Not to make things realistic, but so that the swanky trainers Jessie sold to Sally Webster could fall apart.

It was also raining in Dev's heart, as Sunita hid from him in the Rovers after she discovered that he's got more kids than Ma and Pa Walton. Matters were made worse when Dev finally received the keys to their new home. He got as far as the hallway, then stormed out. That was a daft move – he's got half a dozen children who could make good use of the place.

But it's been a brilliant turn of events. If this had been EastEnders, we'd have found out about it within a week of meeting him, and Sunita would be plotting to have him bumped off. Luckily, Sunita's revenge was much more soap-like - she's threatened to return the greeting.

Cheeky chef Jamie Oliver also lost his cool on JAMIE'S GREAT ESCAPE (C4) this week, as his road-trip took him to Altamur in Southern Italy. "Buonglorno!" he cried chirpily at an old granny sweeping the street as he swaggered past. She failed to return the greeting.

There's something very honest about this series. It can get rather boring hearing

Jamie going on about what a wonderful place Italy is. Yes, they eat good food. Yes, they all eat together at the table. But there's also a frustrating side to the Italian palate. They're not very adventurous – and some of Mr Oliver's dishes have had them wrinkling their noses.

When Jamie tried to knock up a classic salad in the street, he swore that if his host family didn't like it, he'd perform a very painful operation on himself with his carving knife. They didn't. Too many ingredients, they said. Jamie didn't mention the carving knife again, strangely. But he admitted he'd learned a lot from dealing with a different culture – even if he looked a bit less than perfect along the way.

A RICH man had three sons. One day he asked them what they wanted for Christmas.

The oldest said he'd like some golf clubs, so he bought him St Andrews and Gleneagles.

The second said he wanted a train set, so he bought him Virgin and the London Underground.

The youngest son said he'd like a cowboy outfit. So his dad bought him Sunderland FC.

Jokes by text...
LITTLE Nancy was in the garden filling a hole when her neighbour asked what she was doing. She said: "My goldfish died and I've just buried him." The neighbour said: "How sad! But that's a big hole for a goldfish, isnt it?"
Nancy replied: "That's because he's inside your cat." SULLY FROM SWINDON Q: WHAT'S THE BEST WINE AT CHRISMAS? A: "I DONT LIKE SPROUTS!" ANON

THE French did every-THE French did everything they could to oppose a UN resolution to remove the tyrant Saddam Hussein.

Their reward seems to have been weeks of rioting, with Muslim immigrants and others wrecking property right across the country.

CAROL COWLEY, Walsall.

MYLEENE Klass really is different class (Daily Star, November 14). She's a classical pianist, a singer and now more than holding her own as a TV presenter. From what I've read, I gather she's a really nice person, too-and that's the best thing of all.
